Themes	Unit 2 of the Cambridge Latin Course begins in Roman Britain where the student sees a different kind of pietas in the loyalty of the British client king. Intrigue develops in the provincial royal court when the princes vie for dignitas through athletic games. The senator Gaius Salvius Liberalis begins a plot against the socius rex. The theme of Romanization continues, but now the student visits the great African city of Alexandria with its diverse population of Greeks, Jews, and Romans. The rewards of pietas are realized by the former slave Clemens. The death of Barbillus' due to medical incompetence leads to the theme of mortality as well as medicine and science.
Projects	Students create a brochure about Roman Britain for Roman families that have been relocated there. Students write a letter from Salvius to the emperor describing the progress he has made in Britain.	Students make mosaics. Students perform rex spectaculum dat .	Students will research and recreate the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World.	Students will create limericks about Aristo's family.
